

WATERWAYS
(2000, R2001, R2007, R2020)

Policy Statement

The American Society of Landscape Architects believes waterways and their associated watersheds are vital to ecosystem health, societal well-being, and economic stability. Clean, healthy waterways support rich aquatic and terrestrial diversity and include significant heritage and recreational resources. The Society supports the protection, rehabilitation, and enhancement of waterways and their corridors through collaborative planning, design, and management. ASLA advocates for policies at all levels that ensure waterway resilience, integrity, function, and enjoyment.
