

PPN LEADERSHIP TEAMS

PPN CHAIRS / CO-CHAIRS

In addition to a chair or co-chairs, many PPNs also have one or more PPN officers to assist with specific activities or provide general assistance as needed. PPN chairs can invite active members to join the group's leadership team and delegate leadership responsibility relating to the Annual Meeting, communication, webpages, The Field, Online Learning, etc. Many PPNs with larger leadership teams hold regular conference calls (monthly, bi-monthly, or quarterly) to keep track of progress on PPN activities.

PPN LEADERSHIP ROTATION

PPN chairs serve for typically two years, and therefore must identify and groom a successor before their term concludes. New PPN chairs are often recruited from the existing PPN leadership team, with an officer stepping into the role of chair. Past chairs who would like to stay involved often do so as a PPN officer after their term as chair ends.

PPN OFFICER POSITIONS

Want to get more involved with your PPN? Below are a few possible positions. Members are also welcome to serve as a PPN officer without a set role, helping in different areas as needed.

To get started, contact your PPN's chairs or propractice@asla.org and state your PPN interest area.

Editor for The Field – Each PPN is responsible for submitting at least one post for The Field, the PPNs' blog, per quarter. The Field Editor contacts possible contributors and reviews submissions. See The Field's Submission Guidelines for more information.

Online Learning Webinar Coordinator – PPNs host 60- to 90-minute Online Learning presentations throughout the year. Each PPN typically hosts 1-3 presentations per year. The coordinator is responsible for contacting possible speakers and confirming that they would like to present.

LinkedIn Group Manager – Monitors the PPN's LinkedIn group (which is open to both members and nonmembers; anyone with an interest can join), making sure there are new posts regularly and that posts receive a response.

Communications Coordinator – PPN leaders can send out monthly, bi-monthly, or quarterly messages to their PPN with updates about PPN activities and other relevant news items for members.

PPN Meeting Planner – In-person PPN meetings take place during the ASLA Annual Meeting. Some PPNs leave their meeting time open for general discussion, while others plan presentations in advance. The Meeting Planner coordinates these meeting activities.

PPN Website Manager – Reviews the PPN landing page (mission statement), Resources page, and Professional Links to ensure information is up to date and new resources are added regularly.

Historian – Helps keep track of the PPN's ideas, plans, and accomplishments. If the PPN holds regular conference calls, the Historian can also prepare and share notes for each call. Some PPNs also maintain a document online that records the PPN's progress and how the group has evolved.

Allied Organization Liaison(s) – If a PPN officer happens to be both an ASLA member and an actively involved member of another organization (APA, APGA, APLD, CELA, etc.), they can act as a liaison between the two, sharing PPN updates with their allied organization and allied organization updates with the PPN.
