

Landscape Architect Position
Ann P. Stokes Landscape Architects
Norfolk, VA

Ann P. Stokes Landscape Architects, located in downtown Norfolk, Virginia and thirty minutes from the Virginia Beach oceanfront seeks a highly motivated landscape architect for an immediate position.

Our office's range of work includes campus site design and master planning, public gardens, residential, commercial and healthcare projects. We believe good design arises from the dialogue between the inherent qualities of a place and the needs and desires of the client. The direct, intense and mutual collaboration between the client, architect, contractor and artisan strengthens design and makes possible the transformation of ideas into built reality. We seek a candidate with an understanding and appreciation of the collaborative design process who thrives in a creative studio environment.

We are looking for a talented, self-motivated individual with at least 2 years of project management experience working in design, construction documentation, and construction administration. The candidate must understand construction detailing, grading and drainage design, and have excellent written, verbal and graphic communication skills. The ability to work well with clients, contractors and consultants is paramount. Computer skills should include AutoCAD (2010 and above), Adobe Creative Suite including Photoshop and InDesign, SketchUp and MS Office.
