

Entry Level Landscape Architect/Draftsman

Medium sized landscape architecture and planning firm has an immediate opening for an entry level landscape architect. Our firm works in both the public and private sectors with diverse projects ranging from municipal design project to corridor and agricultural planning projects; from retail to recreation projects; from stormwater monitoring to peer review of drawings; from office buildings to bike paths ; and from athletic fields to subdivisions. We are small but we are proud to produce good work which affect the lives of those who live, work and play in our designs. We are looking for an outstanding individual who is flexible, has superior visualization skills, has good design and presentation skills, can handle changing deadlines, sees the relationship between landscape architecture and planning and who considers learning an ongoing commitment. Applicants should have skill with word processing, graphic report/page programs, and photoshop. Hand drawing skills are appreciated. The ability to work with AutoCAD is required. The nature of the position and skills required will depend on the applicant. BLA or MLA with 1-3 years of experience including grading plans preferred. Immediate needs include drawing preparation, regulation review, analysis graphics and report preparation (could use some help on our website, too- we've been too busy to focus on that...). You will be working directly with one of our two Principals. This position has great growth opportunities for the right person.

Simsbury, CT is a small town with a walkable downtown, lots of recreation opportunities and a great place to live. We work throughout Connecticut, eastern NY and western Massachusetts so a car is required. Affordable Housing is not really available so family ties or a long-term commitment to the area is required.

Please send references, resume and work samples (including a grading plan and details) to:
