

OCULUS

MID-LEVEL LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT/ PROJECT MANAGER

Description

OCULUS is an award-winning landscape architecture firm based in Washington, DC, focusing on urban and public space design for public and private clients. We are seeking candidates for a mid-level Project Manager Landscape Architect position. We operate as a workshop where ideas are shared through a collaborative, all-inclusive design process. It is important for everyone in our office to be willing and eager to engage with co-workers and participate in every aspect of the office. We seek a skilled candidate who is creative, outgoing, eager to learn, and passionate about the work.

Skills

- 5-10 years design and project management experience in landscape architecture including exposure to urban design projects and on-structure landscape design.
- Experience working with clients, architects, and other design consultants
- Understanding of technical construction issues
- Knowledge of plant materials and experience with planting design is a plus
- Excellent proficiency with AutoCAD and Creative Design Suite. Beneficial to be knowledgeable in 3-D modeling programs (Sketchup and Rhino)
- Proven track record in managing or mentoring less experienced staff
- Positive attitude and good working relationships with colleagues and clients

Responsibilities may include:

- Preparation, coordination and completion of construction document packages
- Leading coordination with design and engineering consultants
- Development of creative technical solutions for design issues
- Preparing work for junior level staff
- Participation in client and team meetings
