

Entry Level Landscape Designer (0-3 Years)- Denver, Colorado

Elevate by Design, a high end residential landscape architecture firm located in Denver, Colorado, is seeking an entry level designer to join our growing team! With opportunity for career growth, candidates will be trained and encouraged to develop skills in design and design processes, construction knowledge and client interaction. Candidate will work closely with senior designers to assemble design packages for presentation, taking designs from concept to presentation quality, complete site analysis and attend client/designer meetings and consultations.

We are looking for an individual to join our team who is motivated to develop their skills while working collaboratively with our senior designers, other design professionals, and who will grow with the company. Applicants should have a strong understanding of the design process, from design to construction documentation and construction phase services, effective and creative problem solving skills, and a strong work ethic.

Required qualifications:

- Degree in Landscape Architecture or Landscape Design
- 0-3 years employment history or internship in a design or design/build office
- Proficiency in AutoCAD, SketchUp, Adobe Suites and Microsoft office. Our office works on Windows operating systems
- Excellent communication skills, graphic, written and verbal
- Organized and detail oriented
- Self-motivated, flexible and ability to work both independently and collaboratively with other designers & principals

Preferred qualifications:

- Experience in performing site analysis and basic survey tasks
- Plant knowledge
- Knowledge of basic project construction processes and timeline
- Personal transportation
- Strong desire for continued learning
